Appliances Online Customer Care Plan

This document sets out the Terms and Conditions of Appliances Online's Customer Care Plan and clarifies the rights and benefits it provides in addition to your rights under the Australian Consumer Law (ACL).

We appreciate that You may want the certainty of knowing that if Items You buy are faulty they are covered for a specific time period.

When You purchase the Customer Care Plan You are obtaining certainty and peace of mind as to the period of coverage and the remedy You will receive in respect of the Mechanical or Electrical Failures detailed in this Customer Care Plan and the convenience of having the repair and/or replacement process managed for You under the Customer Care Plan.

Your rights under the ACL

The following is a summary of your rights under the ACL. For further information, please consult the ACCC website at www.accc.gov.au.

The ACL protects consumers by automatically giving them basic, guaranteed rights for goods they purchase (Consumer Guarantees) at no charge. For example, the ACL requires that, taking account of the nature of the goods, the price, any representations made by a supplier or manufacturer and other relevant circumstances, the goods must be free of defects, do what they are meant to do, be safe, durable and acceptable in appearance and finish, be fit for any particular purpose that the consumer makes known and comply with any description provided or demonstration model used.

In the event of a breach of a Consumer Guarantee where there is a major failure of the goods, consumers are entitled to reject the goods and choose a replacement or refund and claim compensation for any reasonable foreseeable loss or damage suffered by consumers as a result of the failure. Where the failure does not amount to a major failure, consumers are entitled to have the supplier repair or replace the goods or provide a refund (at the supplier's choice). Whether a specific failure breaches a Consumer Guarantee and a consumer is entitled to a remedy under the ACL will depend on the circumstances.

Consumer Guarantees have no set time limit but generally last for an amount of time that is reasonable to expect in the circumstances, given factors including the cost and quality of the goods, the use made of the goods or any representation made by the supplier or manufacturer. Consumer Guarantees may continue even at the expiry of the Manufacturer's Warranty for the goods or this Customer Care Plan. The exact amount of time that Consumer Guarantees last in the case of a specific purchase varies depending on the circumstances.

A comparison of these ACL rights and remedies and the features provided by the Customer Care Plan is set out in clause 18, below.

In addition, you may also be entitled to have the Appliance repaired or replaced under the terms of any Manufacturer's Warranty relating to your Appliance. Information on the Manufacturer's Warranty is contained in the Appliance packaging.

If we decide the Appliance is unable to be repaired or if it is uneconomical to do so, we will replace the Appliance with an appliance of the same or similar technical specification.

If the manufacturer or their agents only offer a refurbished part or appliance swap facility, we may replace the Appliance with a refurbished appliance of the same or similar technical specification rather than repairing it. For the purposes of this Customer Care Plan, the replacement, in this instance will be deemed a repair. Refurbished parts may be used to repair the appliances.

If such equivalent specification is unavailable, we will pay to you what we would have paid for an appliance with the same or similar make and technical specification in replacement credit to be redeemed at Appliances Online and such payment will not exceed the Original Purchase Price of your Appliance.

If your Appliance is replaced, then cover will end immediately and any outstanding amount of the total cost of the Customer Care Plan as shown in your original purchase receipt and/or tax invoice for the Appliance will become immediately payable to DGSP and there will be no refund of the amount you have paid for the Customer Care Plan.

Where we have replaced the Appliance, you must pay the delivery and/or installation costs of the supplier. When we discuss the replacement with you, you will be notified of these costs. When your Appliance has been replaced, you will be responsible, at your expense, for disposing of the original appliance if it remains in your possession. If the Appliance remains in our possession, it becomes our property.

6. Costs

6.1 Cost of the Customer Care Plan

The cost of the Customer Care Plan will be notified to you at the time of sale of the Customer Care Plan to you. The cost will be specified in your original purchase receipt and/or tax invoice.

Where we agree to provide cover to you under your Customer Care Plan, we do so subject to our receipt of your payment of the cost of the Customer Care Plan within the time required by us.

For Appliances which are Larger Items, we will in most cases, arrange for repairs to be undertaken in your home if those repairs can be carried out effectively and safely (to be

They will invoice us directly, which will include the costs for the service call-out (during normal business hours), parts and labour. However, in rare circumstances we may not have an appropriate approved repairer, and may at our discretion agree that you nominate a repairer and pay the repairer yourself. We will reimburse you as soon as practicable after receiving a valid tax invoice.
